RAILROADS WIN FREIGHT CASES.

Long and Short-haul Arguments Finally Settled.

State Commission Allows Low Rates to be Charged.

Conditions of Competition Recognized by Board.

(BY A. F. DAY WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The most important decision in the history of the State Railroad Commission in the opinion of railroad men, was handed down by the commission today in what are known as the long and short-haul cases. The commission's decision gives authority to the State Railroad Commission to make freight rates on the Pacific coast, and to make them as low as the conditions of competition require. It is such a victory for the railroads that it has been called the "long and short-haul" decision.

The commission's decision was made after a long and hard fight. The railroads had been fighting for years to get the commission to make rates as low as the conditions of competition require. The commission had been refusing to do so, and the railroads had been losing money as a result.

The commission's decision today is a victory for the railroads. It gives them the authority to make rates as low as the conditions of competition require. This will enable them to compete more effectively with the motor trucks and other modes of transportation.

Maybe you don't know good ginger ale at all. There is such a thing as ginger ale that is made of ginger, and the best ginger at that. Cliequot Club, instead of being a small local ginger ale, is the National Ginger Ale of America—sold in every state—because it is a real ginger ale. It has the character, the flavor, the sparkle and life, the purity and all-round excellence that it had to have before it could gain the recognition and approval of the thousands of families that buy it and drink it and like it.

FINDS DESPAIR IN DIRECTORY.

Carl Smith, 42 years old, read yesterday there were more Smiths than ever in Los Angeles, according to the new city directory, and because he thought the name was getting too common, he said, he attempted to take his life. He cut his throat with a razor and slashed his wrists seven times.

The Attempt.

The attempt was made in his room, No. 554 1/2 Wall street. The police of the injuries and the thought of impending death unnerved him, and he cried for help. At the Receiving Hospital, where he was taken, his injuries were treated and his life saved.

Because of Personal Habits.

He was extremely melancholy. He had been unable to curb his thirst, and had been indulging more than he could afford.

While in this condition he reached the report the Smith family was growing rapidly here. He said he felt it a personal insult there should be so many persons here with his name. So, he said, he determined there should be no more of the Smith clan. His condition is not serious.

FOR SELF-PROTECTION.

Union Pickets at Harbor Came Arrested of Workman for Carrying Concealed Weapon, When He Would Not Be Intimidated by Them.

Because Charles Wilkie, an employee at the harbor of the Long Beach Harbor, carried a revolver for protection against strikers, he was arrested yesterday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, and taken to Central Police Station to answer the charge.

Police Court, where being a session of court at the harbor yesterday. Wilkie was arrested upon complaint of pickets who accused him on his way to work. He told the pickets he would not stand for being interfered with and that he was armed. The pickets left him, but made haste to report to the police, who made the arrest.

The only development in the strike situation was that of a carload of Mexican laborers, sent to the harbor by the Salt Lake Railroad, about half were induced by the pickets to desert. The others remained and were put to work loading the cars.

An alarm was sent to the Police Station at noon, that strikers were interfering with the work of the Mexicans, but half a dozen motorcycle policemen, who responded to the call, found no disturbance.

The Federal grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Isadore Blumenthal, whose alleged illicit still was the cause of considerable activity on the part of the Federal officers some weeks ago. Under the Federal law, if Blumenthal is found guilty he may be given a heavy penitentiary sentence.

against Roy Jacobus, charged with sending obscene letters through the mails, and Wong Gong, who, it is alleged, smuggled smoking opium into the country.

NEARLY WILD WITH BURNING ITCHING

Eczema. From Hands to Elbows One Mass. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Could Not Sleep.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter was poisoned by salt and it turned into eczema and from her hands to her elbows was one mass of red, burning, itching eruptions. It began with a rash which was of such a burning itching nature that at times she was nearly wild. For many weeks she could not put her hands in water and she could not sleep.

"She suffered intensely for several weeks

I tried washing her with hot water and putting a rubber sheet across her, but she wasn't helped. The doctor said to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did and the itching soon stopped. I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap and she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Ida Brown, 7025 Exposition Ave., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 22, 1915.

OF BAY CITY KNIGHTS.

California Commandery, No. 1, with Sparkling Reception at Shrine Auditorium, Surpasses Precedent of Hospitality Set at Former Conclaves—Famous Drill Team Wins Plaudits—Unique Band in Concert.

MORE THAN 10,000 persons, all uniformed and plumed Knights Templar or their ladies, were entertained last evening at a brilliant reception given at the Shrine Auditorium by the California Commandery, No. 1, of San Francisco. Invitations had been extended to all the visiting commanderies of the United States. The great hall, reception and exhibition drill given by California Commandery, No. 1, is always one of the most brilliant features of the triennial conclave of the order. No effort or expense was spared by the members of the commandery for the regal entertainment last night. The advance guard of the throng began to arrive early in the evening and before 8 o'clock the auditorium was crowded to its capacity. The hall was exquisitely decorated with American flags and huge banners bearing the insignia of Knight Templar.

They occupied seats on the stage while the famous drill corps of the California Commandery, No. 1, gave an exhibition which started at 9 o'clock and continued half an hour. The maneuvers of the team were loudly cheered by the crowd. This drill corps always attracts special attention at the various triennial conclaves of the order and in Denver three years ago it won a $1000 loving cup in a competitive drill. The maneuvering was under the direction of Eminent Sir D. E. F. Easton, Eminent Sir J. B. Hatcher, Senior Warden, and Sir Ernest C. Huester, Junior Warden. This drill corps boasts of the distinction of being the finest body of uniformed men in the world.

Following the drill a special program was given by the commandery band, which is the only mounted musical organization of its kind in the world. This band also furnished music for the dancing during the evening. Every member of the commandery was on the entertainment committee that had charge of the programme. Refreshments were served all during the evening.

CORDIALITY KEYNOTE. When the delegations of visiting Knights from commanderies from every part of the United States and their ladies arrived at the auditorium they were given a royal welcome by their hosts and escorted to their seats by the members of the California Commandery, who wore their famous Hussar capes, plumed hats and flashing swords.

All of the guests were invited to visit the headquarters of the commandery at the Hotel Stowell today to receive handsome souvenirs to be distributed there. These will include etchings on brass of "The Road of the Trail," the famous statue that attracted unbounded attention last year at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Among the prominent hosts last evening was Eminent Sir L. R. Murtry, who greeted the guests cordially, and was one of the busiest men on the entertainment committee during the delightful festivities. The reception last evening was the most successful given by them at any conclave in years.

"Night of Nights."

MASONIC HISTORY MADE AT CENTENNIAL BANQUET.

ONLY once in a hundred years is it possible to give such a dinner as the centennial banquet in honor of the members of the Grand Encampment of the Knights Templar of the United States, which was held last night at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Executive Committee of the Thirty-third Triennial Conclave arranged a function which forever will stand out in the history of the great order.

It was a "night of nights," as the chairman of the Board, Eminent Sir William J. Jeffries, described it. More than 450 Sir Knights attended. The banquet hall was converted into a tropical forest glade by the use of palms, purple-and-white flowers, many evergreen trees and festoons of asparagus plumosus. Although it was a night of festivity, the Knights never lost sight of the deeper meaning of their order and throughout the speeches ran a thread of reverence and a desire that even in the midst of pleasure, the participants should not forget the lives of others.

The toastmaster, Right Eminent Sir Perry W. Weidner, was presented by Eminent Sir William J. Jeffries, who spoke of the great work performed by the toastmaster and Sir Perry W. Weidner in preparing for the week's entertainment.

Right Eminent Sir Perry W. Weidner's first act was to call for a silent toast to the President, which was drunk off Laletsky's orchestra. A toast was then proposed to "Right Grand Encampment." Right Eminent Sir Lee S. Smith, the Acting Grand Master, was greeted with the playing of "America" and the waving of handkerchiefs when he rose to respond. "I greet you, and I bring you the greetings of the Knights of the Grand Encampment," he said. "I want to say one word, and that is, I am proud of you and I want every one of you to be a good, true Knight Templar."

"Each one of us is put into this world for a purpose. We do not always know what that purpose is, but if we pass through the world and do not accomplish something to make the world better, then we have not done what it was intended we should do."

"When I was called to this office so suddenly I was almost overwhelmed. I got down on my knees and prayed to Almighty God to give me strength and wisdom to carry out the work that had been so ably conducted by the Grand Master before me. I want to impress upon you that this world depends not upon the work of one man, but upon the work of many. There is work in the service for each one of us to do. The Grand Master referred to the motto of the Boy Scouts, "Do some good every day," as a good one for the Knights Templar and concluded thus: "If I am permitted by Almighty God to make this order better, purer and truer and have some of you boys say you are better because you know Lee Smith, then I will feel repaid for all I have done or tried to do."

A bar from "The Maple Leaf Forever" was played as the toastmaster introduced Most Eminent Sir A. W. Chapman, Supreme Grand Master of the Sovereign Great Priory of the Order of the Temple in Canada. The Canadian visitors congratulated this glorious order in the greatest republic the world has ever known upon its centennial celebration.

"A Little Bit of Heaven" was sounded as the toastmaster proposed "The Great Priory of Ireland." Very Eminent Sir John McConnell, Great Chancellor, said that though an Irishman, he was proud to be a Knight Templar, and that though an American, their hearts beat in unison with the members of the Masonic order in this country.

Right Eminent Sir Elmer E. Stone was greeted with "I Love You" and he was the first to respond to the toast. "The Grand Encampment, Knights Templar of the United States," he said. "I am proud to be a Knight Templar and I am proud to be a member of the Grand Encampment of this State."

The toastmaster introduced Sir Motley H. Flint as a fraternal worker who has himself to the world, and who has been a Knight Templar for more than 40 years. Sir Motley H. Flint, as chairman of the Executive Committee of the Thirty-third Triennial Conclave, responded to the toast of that body. He said the holding of the Grand Encampment here is the culmination of a dream of years and he trusted the ideas and expectations of the order would all be realized during the week.

Sir Chester W. Thompson, in charge of the entertainment features, provided players and singers from Hawaii, Mexico and the United States. These included the Spanish dancers and dancers from the San Diego exposition, who were sent to the banquet with the compliments of President Davidson. All the knights expressed the greatest appreciation for the splendid and diverse qualities of the entertainment.

"Reason-Why" Tires

This proves them relatively free from the usual inert substances or "fillers," that give excess weight, stiffness, and grind to tire tread.

More than 200 different Makes and Brands of Motor-Car, and Truck Tires were manufactured and sold in U.S.A. last year, 1915.

These totaled about 12,000,000 Tires. Of that 12,000,000 total Tires, the B. F. Goodrich Co. made and sold one-fourth.

Yet—Tires are only one of the 267 different lines of Rubber Goods made by the Goodrich Rubber Factory, which is the largest in the World, with a 47-year Experience.

This indicates the "Reason-Why" Goodrich Best-in-the-Market Fabric Tires can be, and are, sold to Consumers (via Dealers) at the lowest prices in America, per delivered Mile of Performance.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home.) Dealings in the securities markets were of a much broader nature, the market situation, showing little, if any, influence. Oil, steel and railroads were especially active, with moderate gains. All war shares were variably higher and strong. The strength of francs and the heaviness of marks was taken as a direct reflection of recent happenings in the foreign war.

(Abroad.) Canada has sent $15,000,000 more gold to the United States, making a total of $45,000,000 for the government.

(For details see financial pages.)

A RECOLLECTION.

Must be rather awkward for a Democratic administration to prepare for war. It is not accustomed to it. The last time it did anything in that line was in 1860, when the Buchanan crowd tried to deliver the nation into the hands of the rebels, tied hand and foot.

EVILS OF WRITING.

With Freddie Fustich camping on his trail Carranza may wish that he had never learned to write; for if he hadn't learned to write he would never have sent that impudent note ordering American troops to get out. But he sent it. And history will write it down as a good instance of bad judgment.

WAR IT?

If there is to be a war with Mexico the Republican party of this country will not meet in national convention and pronounce it a failure from the standpoint of American, as Democrats did in 1894 about the rebellion. It will be recalled that they claimed not only that the war was a failure, but demanded a cessation of hostilities.

WAR AND AUNT JANE.

If Carranza's war upon us there will be one small gain to offset many losses. Uncle Sam will take possession of Tia Juana and put a sudden stop to race track and other forms of gambling there. Aunt Jane will once more become a virtuous matron, and the only fly in the ointment will be the fact that Tobias will have to cough up that $5000.

WATER-WAGONS FROM WHISKY.

Altoona, Wis., has been hit by a bright idea. The citizens are not "dry" and for some time have supported four saloons. But, since people of discretion, they figured out that four saloons would do four times the business and, if owned by the city, would provide refreshments and pay the taxes as well. So the place of the four saloons has been taken by a municipally-owned saloon, and the city plans to build a waterworks with profits.

ROOSEVELT'S SUPPORT.

After a visit with Mr. Roosevelt, Senator Lodge says it is his "impression" that the present President will support Mr. Hughes. Of course he will. He began to support Hughes when he declined the Progressive nomination. Incidentally, it is the party of Roosevelt, like most of us, has done a lot of foolish things in his long and busy public life, but he is too much the true American to do anything that might help to give the country four years more of Wilson—when a man of Hughes's caliber is a candidate.

GEN. VON MOLTKE DIES.

When the European war started Gen. Von Moltke was the most respected and honored soldier in Germany, and as Chief of Staff the burden of the campaign fell upon him. He was behind the phenomenal drive through Belgium and on to the gates of Paris. Had the army not been halted and beaten back Von Moltke might still be alive and Chief of Staff. But the Kaiser keeps no generals who fail. The drive on Paris ended in retreat, and Von Moltke was displaced. A broken heart will kill men, the same as a bullet.

MUSIC TO FIT.

Every great national event has its favorite music. When the veterans of the rebellion march every band plays "Marching Through Georgia." If the Knights Templar march, "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "Come All Ye Faithful" rouse the fervor of the multitudes. About ten years ago the writer of this paragraph had a delightful interview with S. Baring Gould, the Englishman who wrote the words to "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The music was written by Sir Arthur Sullivan, afterward the partner of W. S. Gilbert in the production of comic operas.

COLOR AND DIGNITY.

Los Angeles has looked as festive and important during the past few days as some old-world capital of a hundred years ago when the plumed, dashing, handsome officers of Napoleon's regiments filled the streets. At night the most spectacularly-bewitching parades have wound their ways through the business districts and between the cheering masses of people banked on both sides. It has been a great thing to have the Knights Templar come a-visit; and it is very unusual to find any body of men who so felicitously in their parades effect such a distinguished combination of brilliant colors and impressive, calm dignity.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AND THE NATION

The presence of the Knights Templar and their proud, dignified march through the city of Los Angeles yesterday seemed peculiarly significant at this juncture when the country trembles on the verge of war. Beneath all the brave plumage and the elegant uniforms there was the underlying sense that this great organization of Christian men, the marching masses, in a very real sense, are the nation. They are essentially men with a stake in the country, men for the most part of position and established status, who have taken the cross and the military uniform as their insignia and who carry swords, but swords of peace.

The well-disciplined and trained marching of the Knights Templar is an outward and visible sign of their coordination, their co-operation for social service, civic service, military service if necessary. All ages are in their ranks and, while the ostentatious and the cocked hats are insignia of princes, so are the marching and the discipline insignia of true citizenship. For all practical purposes these men are a unit of a great organization for civic service; their individuality is subordinated for the common good. Their bearing is that of men proud to serve, and in any crisis the country must feel that they stand obviously ready to take up their burden whatever it may be.

When their ranks marched to the stirring strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the significance was not lost upon the gazing, cheering crowds. The cross, which topped their banners and which they bore proudly on their arms, is not purely ornamental. It is their faith. And whenever the need arises they stand prepared to take up that cross individually and collectively for the nation's weal.

The majority of the Knights Templar are men of mature years who have made their big fight, who have helped to build up the success and prosperity of this country. They come from all quarters of the United States, civil and social assets of their various cities. They are men the majority of whom have lived up to the high principles of American citizenship, actuated by the Christian principles of their worthy organization. They are men who have met and shouldered their responsibilities as they have arisen, taken life gallantly, stood by each other, stood by their cities, stood by their country. Every city, every State in the Union is proud to welcome them, proud to honor them, proud to possess them. As each division marched past yesterday the sightseers loudly cheered the contingents from their own home States, their own home towns.

And now that danger looms on the near horizon, now that this country sees the possible, the very probable necessity of military action to defend its citizens and its honor, one feels that the spirit of the Knights Templar is exemplified in the national feeling. Not aggressive, not militant, not swiftness, but ready to meet our responsibilities as they arise as Christian gentlemen.

PREPAREDNESS AND PEACE.

Two years ago who would have predicted that civilized Europe was about to crash backward into barbarism and that its six greatest nations would soon be engaged in the bloodiest and most destructive war that the world has ever known? A war all the more destructive because scientific invention has added to its capacity for devastation. What would happen to the animal creation if the tiger was able to live and fight under water? If the shark was given the claws of the tiger and could live in the forest, or if the eagle was given the carrying capacity of the elephant? Neither beast nor bird nor fish nor even man would be safe on land or sea.

George H. Maxwell, in his great book "The Path of Peace," says: "In the great crisis through which civilization is now passing the United States alone has the opportunity and the power to emancipate humanity from militarism and prevent it from ever again being drawn into the maelstrom of war. Unless this is done liberty, the world over, will be slowly submerged by the subtle and insidious growth of military power in the affairs of government, and our present civilization will ultimately go the way of all the civilizations of the past."

Let us not close our eyes to the facts. If Mexico had the money, the arms, the ships and the supplies, is it not probable that the hatred of Villistas and Zapatas and Carranzas and Obregonistas and Felix Diazistas and Yagui Indians alike would find instant expression in a declaration of war against the United States? And is it not intrinsically probable that everything which Mexico needs for such a war, with a fleet of battleships and 200,000 veteran soldiers added, might be supplied by Japan, the government of which is, and for years has been, yearning for an excuse and a chance to achieve in California just such an opportunity for its surplus people as it has already quietly but effectively obtained in the Hawaiian Islands?

Whatever is accomplished in the way of establishing permanent peace among the nations of the earth must be inaugurated and carried forward by the United States. The nations that shall be victorious in Europe will not, and the nations that shall be defeated cannot, promote the creation of a world parliament, a world court and a world army and navy.

Would the successful nations in the great war consent to disarmament? or to the closing of factories for the manufacture of munitions? or to the submission to arbitration of future unknown controversies? Arbitration is the offering of consent based upon the existence of known facts. Would a general consent to arbitrate some future controversy on facts not then existent be possible?

The Times has not lost faith in the beneficial results to the world of the creation of a Nation of Nations with power to make, interpret and enforce international laws, which laws must strictly refer to international rights and obligations and carefully abstain from interference with the equal rights of Russia, of Switzerland, of Germany, of Britain and of every American nation to regulate its own domestic institutions in its own way.

The distinction between the real cause and the pretexting incidents of war has not always been drawn by the thinkers of the world. It was not the murder of an Austrian Archduke and his wife that caused the European war. It was the efforts of Germany at trade expansion and the efforts of the allies to check it that was the principal cause of the war, accompanied by the race antagonism between Slav and Teuton.

Preparedness is the imperative duty of the hour. The war would not have come if Germany had not deemed England unprepared. Preparedness does not mean to expend unlimited millions in making our navy teeming with dreadnaughts. Better expend the money in building four times the number of submarines and in training half a million civilians for the duties of a soldier.

Preparedness for defense, not preparedness for offense, is the immediate and imperative duty of this nation. A burglar who enters and robs a house where he knows the inmates were unarmed would pass by a habitation where he knew that the master of the house kept a loaded rifle by his bedside and a bell that would ring whenever a door or window was opened.

TREASON OF LABOR UNION BOSSSES.

Great Britain has seen an exhibition after another of the lack of patriotism and the utter disregard of the welfare of the country that distinguishes labor-unionists at its worst. Coal miners have struck for another shilling in wages, regardless of the navy's need. What cared the labor bosses for the honor of the country, or for the lives of the sailors, or for the loss of the commerce that provides their fellow-workers and their followers and themselves with a living? What cared they if the Germans were able to defeat the fleet because of lack of coal, and landing in England, should re-enact there the horrors of Belgium? Munition makers have been forbidden by the arrogant bosses to do a full day's work in the hour of the country's blackest need. What cared the labor bosses if the army were routed, if the gallant troops were slaughtered in France, unable to defend themselves, provided they maintained their own power?

Are we Americans going to face a similar situation? So it looks. We are on the verge of a conflict in Mexico. Any moment the clash may come; at any hour our troops in Chihuahua may be forced to fight to save themselves from slaughter, and others may have to hurry to their aid. At any moment it may be necessary to start a general invasion of Mexico. A nationwide mobilization of the National Guard has already been ordered. We shall soon be rushing the new regiments ordered for our army to the border. The railroads will be the life arteries of the nation. Over the rails tens of thousands of soldiers must pass. Their locomotives must haul to the front the millions of pounds of supplies, the horses, the artillery, and field equipment. As these things will be needed in a hurry, the men who are ordered to carry them must be supplied with food and clothing. To delay them a single unnecessary moment will simply be high treason. Every railroad man, from general manager to track-walker and section-hand, will be in reality a soldier, bound to do a soldier's duty. In any country of Continental Europe they would be compelled to do it or face a firing squad.

At this crisis what are the labor unions doing? Are their leaders exhorting their men to stand by the country, to help the nation to go to the rescue of their imperiled countrymen in Mexico? Are they planning to increase the efficiency of their followers to meet the emergency? Are they preaching the gospel of self-sacrifice? Are they arranging at least to postpone until a more favorable time the settlement of any dispute with their employers?

Quaker sentiments. [Philadelphia Record:] Silence may be golden, but you can't cash it at the bank. It takes a pretty powerful navy to enable a nation to paddle its own canoe. Procrastination is the thief of time, but some people even go to the extent of killing time.

It requires a certain amount of wisdom for a man to fully realize what a fool he really is. No, Maude, dear; a genealogist is not a gambler called in by people whose family trees need pruning. If marriage is a lottery, perhaps a man may be pardoned for thinking of alimony as a gambling game. After all, there may not be a whole lot of difference between a delicate situation and an indecisive one. Stillness: He seems to think he knows all about women. Cynicism: He'll get over that if he ever happens to marry one. Tommy: Pop, what do we mean by the Millennium? Tommy's pop: The Millennium, my son, is a sort of abated time of the future when men will be as perfect as their wives expect them to be.

HITS AND MISSES

OF OTHER PAPERS.

A Record-Breaker.
[Baltimore American:] The Boston rumor which accredited President Wilson with having changed his mind about one or two clauses of the Democratic platform announced at St. Louis may very likely be correct. In the matter of changing his political mind Mr. Wilson holds the high jump and quickstep records.

Those New Yorkers.
[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] Most of the money sent on T. R. bets was lost in New York. Those New Yorkers seldom read any papers except their own.

Believes in Prussian Idea.
[Pittsburgh Leader:] Patriotism will not be seen at its best until military training is universal for every man and boy to feel that the country looks to him, however many others may have. It will bind Americans together as nothing has ever done, or possibly can do. It will link us together in a single chain as we have never been connected before as we must be for national safety.

No Vera Cruz in His.
[Springfield Union:] In Mexico, no doubt, there is a good deal of sympathy for "Rev." Bouck White, who is spending thirty days in a New York City Jail for insulting the United States flag.

His Legs All Right.
[New York Sun:] They say the President, leading the Flag Day parade at Washington, was a pace of 144 steps a minute. If they were thirty-inch steps, they carried him along at a rate of 120 yards a minute, or a mile in fourteen minutes and forty seconds. The President's trouble is not in his legs.

Should Advertise the Car.
[Boston Transcript:] A New Jersey woman chalking to death on a walnut was being rushed to the hospital when the jolting of the machine bounced the nut out and saved her life. Now what make of car do you suppose that could have been?

Mrs. Hughes Didn't Want It.
[Springfield Republican:] Even more than her husband Mrs. Hughes hoped that the Republican nomination might not come their way, a point of view that every sensible mother will sympathize with. But both of them have learned to discharge in an adequate way public duties that come to them. Mrs. Hughes would make an excellent mistress of the White House should the need come.

Where He's Limited.
[Kansas City Journal:] Woodrow can write the platform and boss the convention, but he cannot do the voting in November—or at least can do but a small fraction of it.

Can Spare It.
[Philadelphia Inquirer:] "Prohibition is an onerous tax," it will kill poetry." Oh, very well. The poetry that gets its inspiration from a bottle has no license to live, anyway, and ought to be killed.

WHISKERS.

I often cry, "Oh, goodness gracious! My whiskers, rank, apocryphous, grow faster every year; I take so much of toll and trouble to mow away the doggone stubble, I still must shear and shear." I'm shaving, with the latter foaming, at early morn and in the gloaming and the latter, I'm shaving, when I should be earning some toll to keep the fires a-burning, till I have barber's cramp. The time men would make a fortune out of shaving were spent in useful sewing would renovate the earth; why, ask the innocent bystanders, do faces run to cleanness, which have no price or worth? I'm shaving, I'm shaving, when I should be earning some toll to keep the fires a-burning, till I have barber's cramp. SOCIETY.

"Baby" Doherty is to have a party—very first.

This afternoon the Edward Lawrence Doherty family in Chester place, one of the loveliest in the Southland, is to resemble a veritable fairyland, guests by tiny circles representing millions in actual wealth and immeasurable value in heart affection, but just now happily absorbed in play.

Just a year ago this afternoon, dainty little Lucy Estelle Doherty arrived from Hollywood, and instantly became the pet of the parental Edward Lawrence Doherty family, as well as the senior Doherty—grandparents for the first eventful time. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Pasadena, parents of Mrs. Doherty, Jr., were also overjoyed with their new granddaughter.

And her first birthday is to signal a party for scores of playmates. Intentionally the mamma is to attend and enjoy to the full their babies gliding in the Aladdin features which have been provided for the little guests.

ers for twelve young matrons and debutantes was the pretty luncheon presided over by Miss Cecil Call yesterday in the "revelant" season-street home, in compliment to Mrs. Edwin Lockley Stanton, a much feted bride. DRAMA.

RETAINS ITS QUALITY.

FASCINATION OF "EAST LYNNE," REVISED ON SCREEN.

By Henry Christen Warner.

Nothing in the world takes so well in motion pictures as melodrama and it cannot be too much so long as it remains good. A story that sticks to the point from beginning to end and that does not permit of a single scene at a dozen places in the process is a joy to the screen lover. On the other hand, a story cannot be too unusual, providing it remains plausible, and it must be unusual to become entertaining.

We may thank our lucky stars, as well as our screen stars, that there are several such stories on exhibition in Los Angeles this week.

Superb.

Every time an American-made picture undertakes to foreign atmosphere, I want to shout, "Hallelujah!" This is not because American subjects have been exhausted, or that this melodrama is well acted, but because the picture makers get into such a rut with the American idea that they are not to be troubled with anything refreshing. They treat of the West of society, of passion, of love, of drama, and the picture of the West of some New York writer's imagination, a society that is sentimental and a passion that is hectic and over-ripe, and their dollars are sordid disks stained with blood or tears.

Superb.

Now the Superba this week has the luck of an Italian and New York coming to the city. The picture is a masterpiece of the genre, with anything refreshing. MUSICAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

BY EDWIN SCHALKER.

Clearness is an ever compelling power, and in the realm of pianistic art it is only too often sadly neglected. It is the foundation of the art, and without it the most brilliant technical equipment is of no avail. Gracefulness and beauty are a rare foundation for a vaudeville act, but the diving girls and sea lions at Pantages this week embody only grace and beauty.

DEALINGS MUCH BROADER IN WALL STREET TRADING

Shares Make a General Though not Complete Recovery from Past Heaviness, the Mexican Situation Exerting Very Little Influence—Short Covering is a Feature. Oils, Steel and Railroads Go up Two to Three Points.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Stocks made general though not complete recovery today from the heaviness of the preceding session. The trading element seemed less concerned about affairs in Mexico, and prices were actually at their best immediately after publication of the State Department note to the Mexican government. Dealings were broader but smaller in the aggregate, with a liberal admixture of short covering. Reading was the active feature, most of the time, with Mexican Petroleum, Rock Island, Chicago & North Western, and the Erie Railroad preferred following more or less as leaders. A group reacted 2 to 3 points, heading almost 2 points, the prominent ones were the Steel and the Erie Railroad, and shipping shares 1 1/2 to 2. With the exception of United Fruit, which rose 1/2 point, the market was generally higher for a time, particularly the equipment, but then, it proved susceptible to realizing.
